Introducing our Sales Engineers

Lesedi | Chantel | Arora | Mirriam

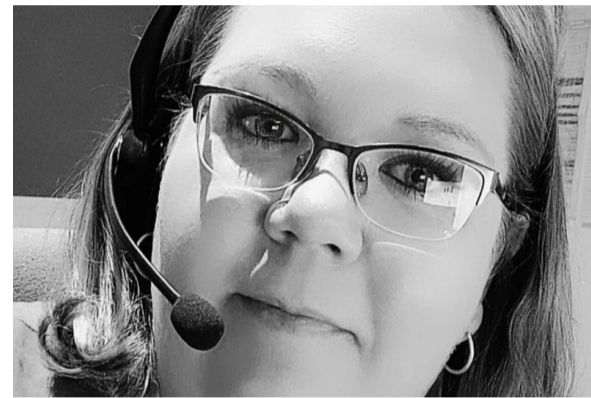

Introducing our 4 sales engineers who will be responsible for providing presales assistance to potential customers. They attend tender meetings to understand customer requirements and collaborate with the sales team to propose solutions that meet those requirements. They are involved in solution building and project management, ensuring that the proposed solution is delivered on time and within budget.

During projects, the sales engineers provide onsite assistance, including site inspections as well as EC walk-throughs. They also offer onsite training to customers to ensure they fully understand the solution and its capabilities. Additionally, the sales engineers possess in-depth technical knowledge, allowing them to troubleshoot any issues that arise during the project.

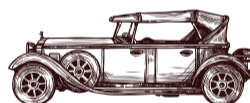

Together, these 4 new sales engineers bring a wealth of knowledge, skills, and experience to the team, and we are confident that they will make significant contributions to ZKTeco.
